Fifty-six years ago today Warren was a veritable Venice on the Allegheny as these motorists navigating the Pennsylvania Ave., Market st. intersection testify. Floods are now a thing of the past thanks to the Kinzua dam. A thing of the past too is the car that could negotiate flooded streets and keep the passengers' feet dry. Still with us though is the building that stands at the fork of Pennsylvania Ave. and Water st. The "photographs" sign has been replaced by a larger billboard advertising milk.

College President Quits; Campus Disorders Continue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another tumultuous week on the nation's campuses was climaxed Friday by the resignation of Dr. Buell G. Gallagher as president of City College of New York and by riot police firing tear gas rockets into a Howard University dormitory.

The week also was marked by a major fire and a bloody clash between black and white students at CCNY.

There was trouble at a host of schools, including Southern University in New Orleans, the Madison campus of the University of Wisconsin, Purdue University, Indiana University, Dartmouth College, Alabama State College students were arrested at the state capitol in Montgomery.

The underlying cause of student unrest, Brewster said, is a malaise among the young about the quality of society and the traditional definitions of success.

"The crisis of purpose is very real," he said.

Jacques Barzun of Columbia University told a House education subcommittee American universities will not recover for decades from the damage they have suffered as teaching institutions at the hands of student militants.

Colleges will have to take "strong means," he said, to overthrow what he called student despotism if they are to recover at all.

Seymour Martin Lipset of Harvard told the subcommittee in Washington that the campus trouble was a political phenomenon, not an educational one. He said it is part of a worldwide "crisis of authority" brought on by such things as increasing awareness of social conditions in the world.

In resigning effective Monday morning, Gallagher blamed "politically motivated outside forces" for undermining his efforts to stop a student rebellion.

Gallagher ran into sharp criticism from some New York politicians, who are involved in an election campaign, when he decided to close the 20,000 student school last April 22 after Negro and Puerto Rican students occupied part of it.

After 17 years as CCNY president, Gallagher had submitted a resignation in March, to the Board of Higher Education, to protest proposed cuts in the City University budget.

Calling for a stronger and more aggressive drive than the offensive launched Feb. 23, the Communist command appeared to design its offensive to force acceptance of the 10-point peace plan submitted by the Viet Cong at the Paris peace talks Thursday. The peace plan called for withdrawal of allied forces and a coalition government.

Military sources estimated the enemy has around 200,000 soldiers available for an offensive, but most of them are concentrated in areas near the borders of Cambodia and Laos or along the demilitarized zone separating the Vietnamese.

Perhaps the best-known saint to be dropped was St. Christopher, patron saint of travelers, who tradition says carried a child across a swollen fiord and discovered the child was Christ. Millions of St. Christopher medals are attached to automobile interiors to invoke St. Christopher's help for a safe trip.

Another popular saint taken off the calendar was St. Susanna, for whom the American Catholic Church in Rome is named. Her deletion caused immediate shock here.

"How is it possible?" exclaimed the Rev. John Dimond, a Paulist father and pastor of Santa Susanna's. "We have her buried in the basement."

Father Dimond added, however, that he had no historical document to vouch that the remains were those of St. Susanna, heroine of an Old Testament story in Daniel. According to the Bible, Susanna preferred to accept a sentence of execution rather than commit adultery. The sentence, however, was not carried out.

"Of course, there has always been some doubt and controversy about many of these saints," said Father Dimond. The Catholic Encyclopedia, in fact, says:

"the story of Susanna should be classed as pious 'haggadah,' a Jewish literary genre whose purpose was edification or moral instruction."

Germany Rules Out Revaluation of Mark

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger ruled out an upward revaluation of the West German mark Friday.

"The federal government now expects, and hopes that the speculation over the mark will end," a government spokesman said.

Kiesinger reached his decision in a four-hour emergency Cabinet meeting in which his coalition partners, the Social Democrats of Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, pressed for raising the value of the mark from its present official level of 25½ cents, cepted within those percentages, an investor with $1 million worth of marks could have made a profit ranging between $40,000 and $120,000.

In trading outside Germany, the French franc was at its floor level of 20 cents in Paris and the British pound stood at $2.38½ as against its official price of $2.40.

But the franc went through the ceiling in its relation to the mark. On the Paris free market 100 marks bought 127.18 francs. The official ceiling is 125.290 francs.

The Bundesbank in Frankfurt halted direct dealings with foreign banks.

For the Kiesinger government, the crisis could hardly have been timed at a worse moment, coming as the coalition parties launch their campaigns for the Sept. 28 federal elections.

S. Vietnam Rejects Latest NLF Offer

SAIGON (AP) — The government rejected Friday night the Viet Cong's latest demand for a coalition regime and what it called "prefabricated neutrality."

The Social Democrats contend the mark was undervalued because West German exports exceed imports.

The divided Cabinet met after a day in which money again poured into Germany in a torrent from speculators and others betting that the mark was headed for an increase in value.

In the scrambling for marks since the new money crisis began with the resignation of Charles de Gaulle as French president April 28, the official West German Bundesbank is believed to have absorbed the equivalent of more than $2.5 billion in foreign currencies.

Government spokesman Conrad Ahlers said Kiesinger had ruled against revaluation "either unilaterally or multilaterally."

"The decision is final and is valid for eternity," he said with a smile.

Ahlers said the Cabinet discussed no alternative measures.

Conditions in European money markets during the day were described as confused and chaotic. Holders of pounds and francs sought profit and safety in the mark against possible devaluations in Britain and France. The U.S. dollar was under heavy pressure as the vehicle for transactions, but its value, based on the official $35 an ounce for the price of gold, is not immediately threatened.

The mark was worth 25 cents before the crisis began and on the free market Friday it was up to 25½ cents.

Speculators bet on revaluation and the guessing ranged from one of 3 per cent to one of 12 per cent—26 cents to 28 cents for one mark.

If revaluation had been ac-

Pupils Display Racial Unity

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J.

(AP) — Almost 2,000 black and white New Brunswick High School pupils, joined by city and school officials, marched with arms linked in a display of racial unity.

"Many of the faculty—men and women—cried openly that day," said William Dunbar, a Negro teacher of English. "This was the kind of thing they've always wanted their students to do and when it happened, well, they were just overcome, it was from the soul, I cried."

That was March 21.

Since then the pupils' constitution has been liberalized and a pupil-faculty committee set up to plan future projects. What's more, the pupils picked the faculty members for the committee.

The racial unity walk month before last came after two days of fighting between black and white pupils. The school was closed for two days to allow a "cooling off."

And the situation was cooled. The idea for the integrated march came from a small group of pupils. As James Gittens, a Negro junior, put it: "A walk-out to show the students' return to education."

School Boards, Teachers In Contract Dispute

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — The boards of education at Falconer and Southwestern schools remained deadlocked in contract negotiations with their faculties while at Panama Central a contract agreement for 1969-70 was announced Friday afternoon.

At Falconer and Southwestern, contract negotiations came to a standstill when neither side would give in on starting salaries and fringe benefits. Mediators appointed by the Public Employees Relations Board are currently attempting to resolve the conflicts at the two area schools.

Negotiations between the Jamestown Teachers Association and the Jamestown Board of Education are under way but no information on any progress has been released by either side.

Sugar Grove Firemen Host Association Meet

Sugar Grove Volunteer Fire Department was host Thursday evening to the Warren County Firemen's association.

Dinner was served at the Sugar Grove fire house by the women's auxiliary, followed by the evening's program and business session.

Speakers included Henry Dahl, Warren County civil defense director; Dick Broxton, business manager for the Warren district offices of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania; and Robert Ache, district forester, Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

Dahl discussed the new radiological monitoring equipment now available, which will replace former meters. He also reviewed the current continuing civil defense program and new developments.

Broxton gave an informative talk on the proposed emergency telephone number, which would enable anyone to dial 911 and get immediate service, in case of accidents, illness, police emergencies, disasters, fires or other occasions requiring such a coordinating center.

The speaker described the complexities of establishing such a program and the various possibilities depending on the area to be covered. Such a plan eliminates the present cumbersome ways of finding any one of many agencies to call in a given sudden emergency. It would save lives and property and aid in prevention of crime and apprehension of criminals.

In Warren County alone there are five Bell offices, as well as independent telephone companies that would have to be coordinated if such a program should be adopted.

It is understood a committee will be formed which will include representatives of organizations and agencies concerned with emergencies, to study practical procedures for such a program.

Robert Ache complimented the firemen on their part in keeping forest fires and grass fires down during the present fire season. He praised vol-foreign operations head of big international corporations with business in many countries.

The Kansas tourist sees a chance of cutting a bit the cost of his sightseeing tour of European capitals by buying a few hundred dollars worth of marks from a travel agency or bank in Paris, London or wherever he happens to be. But in West Germany it would cost him more.

The foreign operations chief of a big auto company, for example, with business in France, Britain and West Germany probably would be fired if the mark's value was raised just at a time when all the corporation's liquid assets in Europe happened to be in francs or pounds or Spanish pesetas.

That is one of the chief tasks of foreign operations directors of the big corporations: keeping his eye on the state of the foreign exchange to shift the firm's liquid assets around from one currency to another and sometimes even into gold if it looks like a profit could be made or greater security found there.

There are, of course, foreign exchange speculators, people who make their living betting that this or that currency will go up or down. Some are small-timers operating on a capital of $10,000 or even less. Others have a grubstake of millions.

In Frankfurt, the mark closed Friday at 25½ cents, up from its precrisis level of 25 cents.

Many of the speculators took seriously forecasts of some experts that the mark would be raised by 8 per cent from the precrisis level to 27 cents.

Thus if the man with the $10,000 bought marks at 25 cents each he would hold 40,000 of them. With revaluation he changes his marks back to dollars, receiving $10,800—a profit of $800. The profit of a big money man with $1 million would be $80,000.

It's all pretty much a sure thing because there was no likelihood of the marks losing in value. At worst, the speculator would break even or, in the case of those who borrowed to buy marks, lose the interest on the loan.

Bomb Scare At Edinboro Campus

All classes at the Warren Campus of Edinboro State College were cancelled after a bomb threat was received about 1 p.m. Friday.

Although it was presumed to be a prank by some ill-guided individual, when Mrs. Ann Lutz, the college secretary received the call, immediate action was taken, and Sgt. Willard Zerbe and Patrolman Robert R. Kates were on the scene promptly and made a thorough inspection of the building. No evidence of any bomb was found.

As explained by Frank Johnson, director of the Warren Campus any such threat cannot be taken lightly, in view of the general climate of violence in the nation, and if it should turn out that it was the one-in-a-thousand true warning, every precaution is necessary to safeguard the many young people for whom they are responsible.

The disruption in the college schedule, in the midst of examinations, was most inconvenient.

Mrs. Klingensmith Banquet Speaker

Mrs. Marlin P. Klingensmith of Spring Creek, Pa., was the guest speaker at the third annual Mother-Daughter banquet sponsored by the Warren Christian and Missionary Alliance Church. 50 persons attended the dinner held at the Glenn Restaurant on Saturday evening.

A quartet featuring Robin Anderson, Beverly Ballor, Roberta Priest and Denise Williams sang "Angels," a song characterizing their mothers.

Mrs. Mary McFarland sang "My Mother's Bible."

Mrs. Esther Darr, mother of six children and grandmother of more than 20, was presented a carnation corsage as the oldest mother present.

Mrs. Klingensmith, the guest speaker, a native of New Kent, and a graduate of Nyack Missionary College, Nyack, N.Y., is also a mother of a daughter and three sons. Pursuing her writing interests, she has taken advanced study in the field of journalism.

Parking Rates On Council Agenda

An ordinance doubling the metered parking rate and limiting the time to an hour will get a first reading at a Warren Borough Council meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. The ordinance provides for a five cent charge for each half hour.

Other ordinances to be read will provide for parking on the west side only of Oak st. from Pennsylvania ave. to Peach st.; establishing alternate parking on Hammond st. from Pennsylvania ave. to Madison ave. and accepting Tremont st. from Oneida ave. to Onondaga ave.

Resolutions will be proposed naming Borough Manager Frank Strange sewer rental collector and advertising and receiving bids for street improvements.

Secretary Rogers Says Viet Cong Peace Proposal Unacceptable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Friday the 10-point peace plan proposed by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front "contains some clearly unacceptable proposals, but there are elements in it which may offer a possibility for exploration."

"We will examine this statement carefully in the hope that it represents a serious response to the proposals put forward by South Vietnam and the United States," Rogers said.

In a statement dealing with Rogers' forthcoming trip to Vietnam, South Asia and Iran, the secretary of state gave the first formal response by the Nixon administration to the proposal made by enemy negotiators in Paris Thursday.

IMA Officers Installed at YMCA

BY FRANKLIN R. HOFF
At the recent meeting of the Warren County Industrial Management Association at the Warren YMCA, officers for the coming year were formally installed, including: Dennis Hedges, president; Robert Wheatall, 1st vice president; James Toner, 2nd vice president; Richard Belcher, treasurer; Richard M. Johnston, recording secretary, and Frank A. Kulling, zone representative.

Speaker of the evening was W.O. Etheredge, manager of education and general training for the United States Steel Corporation in Pittsburgh. President W. F. Deemer, introduced the speakers and also presented a new member, Mrs. Gravosky of Gravosky Industries.

Commenting on his work as head of education and training, Dr. Etheredge observed that continuing education and training is vital in industry today. Every type of education is involved in the various locations of U.S. Steel plants throughout the nation. This varies from graduate work in higher education to every kind of apprenticeship training, management training, sales training, personnel training and training right up to top executives.

If people can be persuaded that certain courses of action can bring them to realize their needs, they are more likely to respond.

Etheredge reminded his hearers that you can't satisfy people just by giving them more money. "You can't stop there," he adds, "there are plenty of other needs that may be even more important."

The speaker emphasized the importance of listening to people. This he feels applies to parents with their children, as well as to supervisors to their associates in business and industry. It was also suggested that a much better job must be done in placing people in jobs best suited for them.

Total Voter Registration Drops From November High

HARRISBURG (AP) — Fewer Pennsylvanians bothered to register for the May 20 primary election than last fall in all categories except the minuscule Constitutional Party.

Republicans managed a modest increase in their registration margin over the Democrats, the Constitutional Party was the only group of voters to show an increase. The Constitutional Party backed former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, the candidate of the American Independent Party, in the presidential contest last year.

Over-all registration dropped by 152,810 between elections, from 5,599,364 who qualified to vote last November to the 5,446,554 registered for the May 20 primary.

Republicans have 2,701,929 names on the books at the present time, down 73,527 from last fall, while Democrats have registered 2,640,071, a decline of 75,436 from the fall elections.

The Republican margin over Democrats as shown now on the books of the state Elections Bureau is 61,858, compared with a margin of 59,949 last fall.

Although its heft on the registration books is still minimal, the Constitutional Party was the only group of voters to show an increase. The Constitutional Party backed former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, the candidate of the American Independent Party, in the presidential contest last year.

The party increased its registration 346 to a total of 4,954. The Constitutional registration among men rose from 2,532 to 2,727, while qualified women voters of that party label increased from 2,076 to 2,227.

For all other parties, nonpartisan and independent voters, the number registered showed a drop from 103,793 example, last Sunday visibility from fire towers was only about five miles, the plane, on a pre-determined flight plan, spotted six fires that had not been previously spotted and reported, by fire tower watchers or local residents.

The two largest fires that have occurred this year in the district—one burning 42 acres on Picadilly Hill near Spring Creek, the other last Sunday southwest of Titusville, burning about the same area before being controlled, were out of range of the towers and plane. These areas depend upon reports of local residents in the area. One of these fires, Ache reports, actually burned for more than two hours, but was never reported, although there were people around the edges, and it was visible from many nearby residences.

The Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters urges every citizen, young or old, to immediately report any fire they see to the department: Phone 723-6951, or phone the Warren Fire Control Center: 723-7100, or phone their own local fire company. With immediate notice, fires can be kept small, and damage and losses kept to a minimum.

Driver Charged

Andy J. Gervek, 26, 100 High St., Clarendon, has been charged with leaving the scene of an accident. He was involved in a collision May 3 at the intersection of Schantz St. and Pennsylvania Ave., police said.

The highlights of the spring activities will be a bus trip to Fallingwaters, a trip to Seven Springs, several canoe trips and a picnic in June.

The 55 active members of the Allegheny Outdoor Club have set as their goal the development of a more prominent influence in matters concerning nature-enriched outdoor activities.

They welcome applications for membership from anyone interested in the outdoors.

In one short year of operation the club has offered a variety of outdoor activities, including hiking, canoeing, nature walks, cross-country skiing, trail construction, planning sessions involving outdoor movies and a variety of miscellaneous outdoor activities.

Rep. Allen's Public Session

BY ROBERT CLEVER

For the first time since the sessions were started, Rep. William W. Allen faced an empty table for his public conference at the court house on Friday morning.

But he was not dismayed, however, optimistically saying that this was a sign of relative contentment on pressing issues; or perhaps the rainy weather had a little bit to do with it, he said.

Allen told this Times-Mirror and Observer reporter that he was very well satisfied with the way Starbuck citizens have been treated in their dealings with the Department of Highways. He said that naturally people dislike having their homes and business taken; but in every instance on which he was asked for assistance, there has been an amicable solution.

In the long run, the citizens now realize that their properties will be worth even more after the highway is completed, Allen said.

Allen said he learned just before leaving for this two-week "election" vacation that it is going to be a "long, hot summer" for legislators. The House of Representatives calendar has 160 bills listed, with 1131 House bills having been introduced prior to May 5; 733 bills have been introduced in the Senate. The introduction of bills will then be cut off until September 17, 1969.

The budget will be the main item on the agenda until August, Allen said, when it is expected that the legislature will adjourn for one month. He said that three budgets have been proposed—the Governor's and the Republicans and the Democrat's and the final budget will have to be a compromise among all three.

In addition to activity in the legislature, Allen said the conservation and fish and game committees have a busy summer schedule of field trips. The conservation committee will be in Erie June 5 and 6 to study off-shore drilling. He said Canada has been drilling off-shore in Erie for 30 years, apparently with no ill effects; so there would seem to be no reason that Pennsylvania shouldn't realize some of the economic advantage. He emphasized that the committee would recommend off-shore drilling only if it can be done without danger of contamination.

He said that he and Clarion County Rep. George "Heap" Alexander were awaiting word from the Bureau of Mines and Mineral Industries to set up a field trip to the headwaters of Big Coon Creek, near Tionesta, to investigate the possibility of stopping mine-acid pollution of the stream. The meeting is being set up as the result of a request from the Forest Rifle & Pistol Club at Tionesta, he said.

He will attend a meeting in New Castle June 19, 20 and 21, with conservation agencies from six states.

The conservation committee also has a trip scheduled to study solid waste disposal at Toledo.

The fish and game committee will visit the Cenewango Dam on the Pa.-Md. border to learn what plans have been made to carry the shad run around the dam by ladder.

Regarding solid waste disposal in strip mines, Allen said that as a result of his trip to the Hazelton area, he feels that the use of strip mines for disposal is not the answer.

He said that there seems to be more contamination problems with this type of disposal in western Penna. than in the deep mines of central and eastern Penna.

Clarendon Cleanup Drive May 17

The Clarendon Volunteer Firemen's annual clean-up drive is scheduled to start at 8 a.m., Saturday, May 17th.

The drive is designed each year to "spark" a cleanup around Clarendon, both inside and outside of homes and business places. The firemen remind residents and business people that a cluttered basement, garage or storage room is a real fire hazard.

Trucks will start making the rounds early Saturday morning and will work until everything is cleaned up that has been set at curbside. For those items too heavy to get to the curb, arrangements can be made to get this hauled away by calling 723-9236 or 723-6985 before Saturday. The firemen will take scrap of any kind.

There is a minimum charge of $1 to cover operating costs for the equipment. This charge will be collected at the time of pickup.

Scott Says U.S. Must Recognize Power Limits

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Scott, R.Pa., has called for a U.S. foreign policy based on recognition of "the limits of power in the modern world."

"For the limits are surely there and we must live within them," Scott told the Allied Educational Foundation Thursday night.

"America must make a conscious and determined effort to define the limits of what she can and cannot do overseas," he said.

Scott added, however, that he was not advocating a "retreat into the neo-isolation that some otherwise intelligent people are selling these days."

America should continue, he said, to stand by its alliances, maintain a strong foreign aid program, seek trade with other nations and promote global peace and a world rule of law.

But, he said limitations of U.S. ability to shape world events indicate such courses as:

—Unilateral withdrawal of a substantial number of U.S. troops from South Vietnam and their replacement with native forces, a step Scott proposed earlier.

—Indications to Japan the United States is willing to negotiate promptly for return of Okinawa to Japan.

—Making it clear the United States will not attempt to impose its will on warring factions in the Middle East.

These positions reflect my feeling that we must recognize the limits of power in the modern world in order to use better the power we have for our boundless international goals and to release more of our resources for the relief of the poor, the hungry, the disadvantaged and other essential, American domestic needs," Scott said.

The nation must realize, he commented, that while the commendable goals of its foreign policy may be limitless, "the means at our command to achieve those goals are not."

Fourth Avenue a Mess

It is expected that the Warren town fathers at their meeting Monday night will be asked to investigate the removal of the Penn-Central Railroad tracks that run through Warren Borough along Fourth avenue. The rails eventually reach East street and run northwardly through North Warren to Dunkirk, N.Y.

Fourth avenue, which is not only traveled heavily by local traffic but also serves as a by-pass route over several blocks for Route 62, is a mess. It has been for a number of years, and presently is worse than ever -- not only annoying to the driver, but hazardous.

As it now stands, the section of Fourth from near Laurel street to Market street is maintained by the state Highways Department -- up to within two feet of either side of the railroad tracks. The railroad is responsible for maintaining the center; the borough the curbside parking area.

The state's 1969 paving program for Warren County, which starts effective July 1, includes the resurfacing of its section of Fourth avenue. A spokesman for the department says, if it seems certain the tracks will be eliminated within a reasonable amount of time, they will hold off until they can repave over the tracks area. We can't ask for more, if it is within reason.

The railroad makes no deliveries between Beech street and the borough line north of Warren. In North Warren the West Penn Oil Company is presently being served by the Penn-Central tracks. An official of the firm states that West Penn could be served from the Dunkirk spur of the line instead of on the rails running through Warren. But this would be especially costly in time to West Penn as the firm's incoming materials would be shipped the long way around.

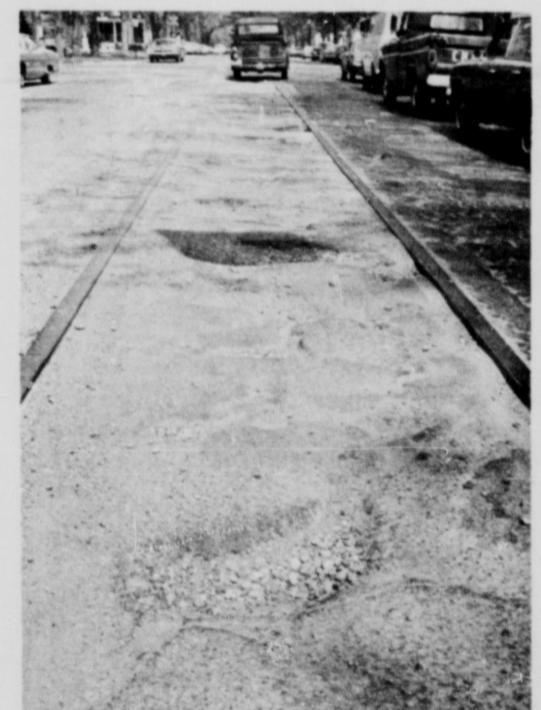

Nevertheless something must be done about the nuisance.

Warren Borough Council should act progressively at Monday night's meeting. And, in so doing, it should move rapidly and pressure the railroad and Public Utilities Commission for faster concurrence than either is noted for.

Fourth avenue is not a lonely side street. It serves numerous local taxpayers; not to mention out-of-town truck drivers, business people and travelers.

Looking south at Fourth and Market streets.

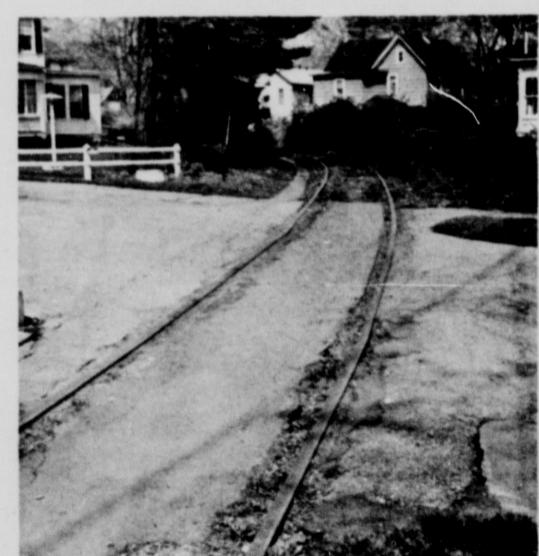

Rough riding the middle.

Bad in North Warren too.

Near Fifth and East.

Turning off Fourth street.

Salute to the Outdoor Club

We salute the 55 members of the Allegheny Outdoor Club on their first anniversary.

In promoting such activities as hiking, canoeing, skiing, nature study and picnicking, this club of hearty outdoorsmen is promoting recreational activities which are compatible with the natural environment of Kinzua Country.

We hope they will become even more influential in the years to come in promoting the preservation of wilderness areas and the conservation of our natural wealth.

We hope that the resident and non-resident citizens of Kinzua Country will be appreciably influenced by the deeds and actions of this fine organization.

The ROTC Game

The very first thing the president of the typical university does, upon announcing that henceforward ROTC students will receive no academic credits, is to assure his audience that the decision of the faculty was reached without any thought to the political situation, absolutely none at all.

That is of course sucker bait, and the presidents know it, but they have become so much accustomed to dissimulation, which they practice upon the alumni as if they had Ph.D.'s in the subject, that they can manage to keep straight faces while saying such crooked things. Sure, anti-Vietnam sentiment had nothing to do with deciding to drop ROTC credits, and the New Hampshire primary had nothing to do with Lyndon Johnson's retirement. Sure, ROTC doesn't warrant academic respectability, but Eldridge Cleaver does...

Here are a few points which the college presidents have not treated. One of them is, Why if properly taught -- shouldn't ROTC training earn credits? It is widely imagined that ROTC consists in marching up and down the quadrangle with rifles on one's shoulder. Sure, there is some of that. But much more is the classroom work. Now if the classroom work is unimaginative, and consists only in the rote-learning of drill manuals of one sort or another, then obviously academic credits are not in order.

But if that is the case, one wonders why the administration and faculty voted to give credits to ROTC in the first instance? It is not widely known that ROTC appears on campus not because the Pentagon, at some point in the past, dispatched a military expedition to the local college, posting non-negotiable demands. A contract is negotiated and signed, and these contracts have called for the granting of academic credits. If university officials did not take the trouble to ascertain that the ROTC staff would devise a curriculum of academic consequence, then the dereliction is the university's.

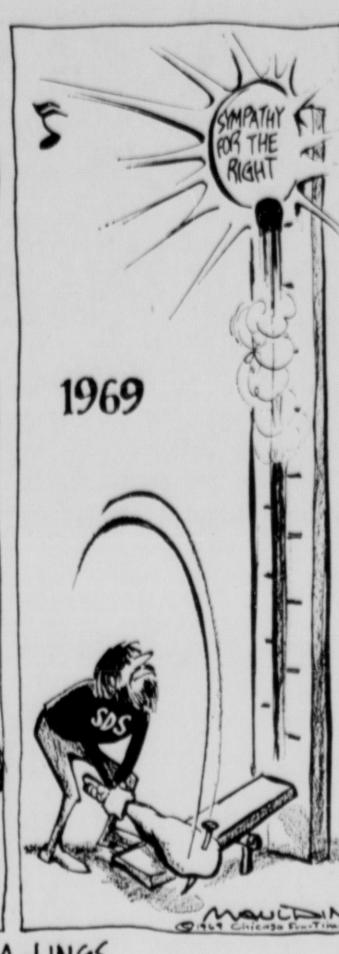

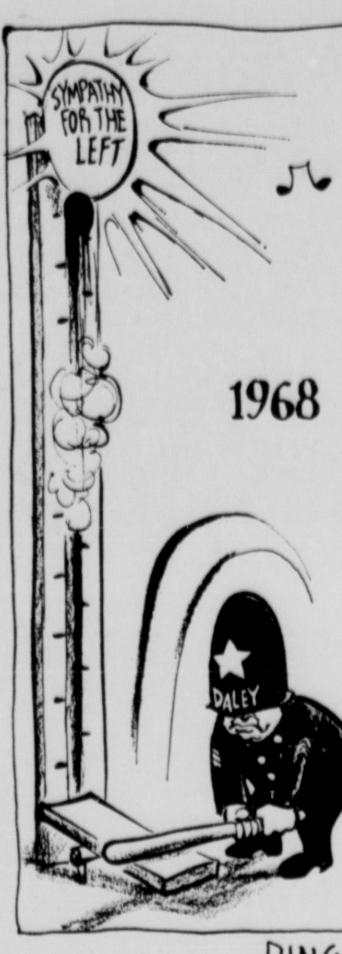

Or are they saying that there is no body of knowledge presentable by an ROTC? That would be a strange position to take, particularly by those militants who hug to their bosom the collected works of Mao Tse-tung and Che Guevara and the gang, on the tactics and psychology of guerrilla warfare. If there is a body of knowledge to revolution, surely there is a body of knowledge to counter-revolution? Why, if the subject is academically jejune, do we acknowledge the "science" of warfare? What of the related paramilitary subjects, concerning which some of the most interesting theorists of human behavior have addressed themselves, stressing diplomacy, public psychology, propaganda, and the rest?

Is it idle to study military history? Or geopolitics? Or strategic geography? Or the relation between the psychology of a culture and the relevance of the weapon? Couldn't a highly instructive semester -- at the very least -- be devoted to an examination, for instance, of the intellectual relevance of the arguments and the tactics of the North Vietnamese during the current war?

And then the other point. The movement now is not merely to deprive ROTC students of academic credit, but to ban ROTC from the campus. Why? I mean, why does the majority of the student body, or of the faculty, undertake to dictate to an individual student what he can do in his spare time? If he desires to drill with a master sergeant, or to otherwise satisfy Reserve Officers Training requirements, what business is it of the busybodies on campus, who prate about academic freedom -- while designing a curriculum geared to their own neurotic lusts? The ROTC here is an interesting and, so far as I know, heretofore unpublished datum -- has, at this writing, received not one communication from one college in America announcing the abridgement, or rescission, of an outstanding contract. That means that students are entitled even to academic credits, until that contract expires. What then? Is ROTC to set up shop, like Berlitz Schools, unrelated to the college in any formal way?

What, then, will the student and faculty do, in pursuit of their goal of unconditional victory? Ask that any student who spends his afternoon at the local Berlitz-ROTC institution, be punished? Expelled? Publicly flogged? One weeps for the end of reason?

The case for giving them time to work out their difficulties

'Cronyism' Costs Taxpayers

WASHINGTON -- The closer you study Defense contracts, the more apparent it becomes that "cronyism" is costing the taxpayers millions of dollars. Defense contractors have been able to buy Pentagon influence by hiring hundreds of generals and admirals who know how to get and keep military contracts.

They also know how to jack up the price after signing the contracts. Invariably, the contract contains escalator clauses which permit the contractor to increase his profits.

The controversial C-5A transport plane is a case in point. Lockheed Aircraft bargained to build 120 C-5A planes for $3.1 billion. The extras ran the actual cost up to $5.2 billion, a staggering $2.1 billion more than the taxpayers had originally been committed to pay. Lockheed's friends inside the Air Force allegedly doctored reports about these extra costs to save Lockheed from taking a beating on the stockmarket.

When you look over the list of cronies hired by Lockheed, the company's influence inside the Pentagon is easy to understand. Lockheed has 210 generals, admirals, colonels and Navy captains on its payroll -- more than any other Defense contractor.

The executive in charge of Lockheed's "requirements" is L.C. Craigie, a former Air Force lieutenant general. The manager in charge of "plans and requirements" is B.I. Funk, a retired Air Force major general.

The executive secretary of the company's safety board, L.L. Davis, is a former Air Force lieutenant general. Two other high-ranking retirees, Lt. Gen. W.W. Dick, Jr., and Admiral J.H. Sides, are on the Lockheed payroll as senior military advisers.

Politics of Fear and Hope

NEW YORK -- The campus war never seemed more alarming than it does now, but it may be deceptive. It has gone so far and raised so many fears on all sides that, like the Vietnam War, it may have reached its peak and started the process of reappraisal and accommodation.

The experiment with coercion and physical force has been a disappointment to almost everybody who has tried it. The blacks used it at Cornell and made some progress at the start, but are still in deep trouble. The SDS and the administration at Harvard tried to solve their differences by force and it was a stand-off. The resort to violence by both blacks and whites at City College in New York produced a bloody battle and started everybody with the prospect of a racial massacre.

And while the crisis continues at least many of the leaders on all sides are beginning to wonder.

This includes the President, the Attorney General and the more thoughtful legislators, faculty members and student leaders. They have all gone through a new experience. They have all seen the dangers of confrontation politics, and most of them now seem to be calling for a pause and reconsideration of the violent trend of the last few weeks.

The presidents of Harvard and Cornell, for example, have been off-campus this week trying to deal with the public reaction to their recent crises. Nathan Pusey of Harvard has been in Washington pleading with the Congress to give the universities another chance to deal with their problems without political interference. President James Perkins of Cornell has been in New York arguing for patience so that he and his faculty and students can try to work out their difficulties and to find new ways of settling their differences, and both think that they now have a good chance, not for a solution of their problems, but for a livable compromise.

In short, Pusey of Harvard and Perkins of Cornell -- to mention only two symbols -- are beginning to think about their problems in a different way. Both are obviously in deep trouble. Both are confessing that they should have anticipated their problems better than they did; both have clearly been changed by the struggles of recent days, and both are asking for time.

It is a fair request. Even adversity has its uses and everybody has been through the fire at Harvard, Cornell and City College in the last month and has begun to think of the consequences of violence for everybody. The militant Negro students did at Cornell, neither the faculty nor the students could agree to expel the black militants or their militant white allies, for this would mean not only making the rebels vulnerable to legal penalties, but leaving them vulnerable to the military draft and service in Vietnam.

This is what has confused the issue of authority on many campuses. Moderate students, faculty members and administrators clearly do not approve the violent tactics of the white and black militants, but when condemning them and expelling them raises the question of drafting them into a war in Vietnam they oppose, they simply cannot do it.

What the crisis of the last few weeks has done, paradoxically, is to make all the adversaries in the struggle feel trapped in a wholly new and alarming situation that threatens them all. Most students have never been involved in such problems before. A great many faculty members, though they were responsible for student discipline, had never attended a single meeting on such problems or even heard a Negro speak on the issues. But now they have been compelled to put their minds to the problem for the first time. In this sense, the crisis of the last few weeks has been important, and university administrators, faculty and students are just now beginning to think seriously about how to get out of the thicket.

Mother's Day Demands

WASHINGTON -- My wife was writing furiously the other night, and I asked her what she was up to.

"I've been very much impressed by the student demonstrations and since Mother's Day is coming up I've decided to make certain demands for mothers that the country will have 24 hours to accept."

"But you can't do that," I said. "That's an ultimatum."

"Exactly," she replied, "and we're not fooling around."

"What are the demands?"

"The first is that amnesty be given to all mothers for anything they have done in the past year which might have annoyed or offended their children. And since having children is punishment enough for all mothers, that no further penalties be imposed on us for any irrational acts we may have committed."

"We further demand a full Mother Studies Program at all schools, where they would emphasize the affirmative things about mothers and spell out the contributions they have made to the world. This program would be an answer to the lies put out by Philip Wylie and Philip Roth. The object of the course would be to give mothers new pride in themselves and prove once and for all that 'birth is beautiful.'

"What else?" I asked nervously.

"We demand that the system be changed so we can sleep in the morning once a week, stay out in the evening and have some time to ourselves on week ends."

"Now you're going too far," I warned.

"We also believe that if we're the official chauffeurs of the family, society should provide parking space for us and all illegal parking tickets should be rescinded so we can start out with a new slate."

"These demands are preposterous."

"In confrontations between mothers and children, we are serving notice that if fathers take the side of the children we will close the kitchen down until someone listens to us."

"You're putting fathers in a terrible spot," I said.

"We are also sick and tired of Mother's Day, which is just a form of tokenism to keep us in our place. We demand to be treated like mothers 365 days of the year."

"Is that all?"

"No. There's one more thing," she said, as she handed the paper to me. "These demands are not negotiable, and I expect an answer by Sunday."

THE BOYS' ROOM

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — Snarling, two steeplechase riders whacked a table tennis ball at each other's throat while Heliодoro Guitiаres, cursing softly and pleasantly, blew a sure-shot on the bumper-pool table, and two apprentice jockeys argued over which soap opera they would watch on the color television set. Angel Cordero rounded up three men for a rummy game and John Rotz, delicately puffing a fat cigar, wrote a letter. No one dipped into the prize of the library, Bruce Winton Knight's 1936 classic, "How to Run a War," and no one drank his snack bar coffee black without a remark about reckless living. The jockey's room at Aqueduct was sliding back into routine.

Of all the groups that over-lap and co-exist and inter-relate and most recently, polarize at a race track, none is more easily identifiable than the jockeys, and none is more divorced from the day-to-day administration. They arrive by noon, unless they have special permission from the clerk of scales and they spend their afternoon riding and waiting. The nine canceled racing days at Aqueduct cost them all money and the two days of semi-boycott, in which less than half of the 45 jockeys showed up to work, will cause some hard feelings among them and with trainers and owners who might resent either the ones who stayed home or the ones who came to ride.

But, in the long run, the jockeys probably will be affected the least of any group. "Grudges are only held," Rotz said yesterday, "against unsuccessful jockeys."

Rotz is 33 years old, and one of the country's top riders. At Aqueduct this meeting, he is the seventh-ranked jockey and like all the top ten jockeys except Jean Cruguet, and all the leading stars except Eddie Belmonte, he chose to sit out the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association boycott. H.B.P.A. members refused to enter their horses, in a move to influence the state legislature into extending the racing season and earmarking the tax revenue for stablehands' benefits.

"I didn't want to ride if most of the riders weren't," said Rotz, idly watching men leave in starched whites and clean silks and return caked with mud. "I think we're seeing jockeys become more and more involved in the industry, perhaps because we've they are better educated these days and perhaps because we've all had the chance to see jockeys who made real good money end up parking cars or looking for a touch."

"Jockeys are beginning to be looked upon as adults now, too. Part of it was our fault, I guess, the fat cigar, the limousine, the big broad, this was the stereotype, you saw it in every movie and you accepted it. I guess people's tend to the way they are expected to."

"When I entered the fourth grade in a new school, my parents had just moved, the teacher saw me walk in and said, 'just because you're a little guy don't think you can get away with anything.' Beautiful. I was never a good student in school after that."

A bachelor with a farm adjoining his parents' in Decatur, Ill., and a New York apartment, Rotz went to his Miami house when the boycott began, swam and grew a small beard. Yesterday, while waiting for his fifth-race ride, which he won at a good price, he seemed to bathe in the bustle of the jockey's room.

Through their Guild, the jockeys are involved in an attempt to raise their wages from the present average of $10 to $25 per ride and $20 to $50 per victory to $15 to $45 per ride and 10 per cent of any winning purse of $500 or more. Now, many get 10 per cent, but it is not specified in any group contract. Jockeys have no pension and along with their agents hope to share in any plan instituted for backstretch employees.

According to Nick Jemias, managing director of the Jockeys' Guild, about 10 per cent of the country's riders (there are more than 1,200 guild members) earn $100,000 or more while more than 50 per cent earn $10,000 or less. The also-rans have it hardest: of that $25 per race fee, the agent gets $5, the valet gets $4 and $5 goes to the Guild (of that $3.50 is put in a special savings account for the jockey). Of the $11 left, some goes to taxes.

A jockey, to survive, usually has to win a bet now and then, or get lucky, or be well-considered by the bread-and-butter owners and trainers, the H.B.P.A. members. The recent boycott, which polarized groups at the track, may affect some riders. Will the trainers and owners who broke the boycott remain loyal to Guitiаres, Jesse Davidson and Sandino Hernandez, who rode? And will the New York Racing Association ever show its displeasure with Brailio Baez or Bob Ussery or Larry Adams or Rotz, who stayed home?

"Let's face it," said Rotz, preparing to shave his vacation beard before he rode, "you start winning a few, and suddenly no one will remember what you did on which day and why."

36 Drivers Set To Scramble In 400-Lap Rebel 500 Race

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP) — A field of 36 drivers was completed Friday for the 13th Rebel 400-mile stock car race and for the first time in many years there was no clear-cut favorite to claim the $14,700 jackpot that goes to the winner.

The 291-lap chase over the newly repaved and reshaped Darlington Raceway begins at 2:30 p.m. (EDT) Saturday. With good weather predicted, race officials hope for a crowd of about 30,000.

The mile and three-eighths track, opened in 1950, was revamped and overhauled during the off-season. In addition to a new asphalt surface, the already tricky third and fourth turns were reshaped to eliminate single file driving in the south end of the speedway.

"It's an entirely new ball park," said Mercury's Cale Yarborough, who won the Labor Day Southern 500 here last year and has the inside front row, or pole, position in Saturday's start. "I don't think any of the drivers know yet how to race on the new surface. But it is a heck of a lot faster than it used to be, and tricky as the devil."

Yarborough set a new one-lap speed mark in qualifying. His 152.293 miles per hour was almost four miles faster than the old lap standard of 148.850.

Ford has five of its top stock car racing teams starting in the first four rows. Dodge has three, with Bobby Isaac, the year's top race winner, in the fifth row.

Richard Petty, one of the Ford aces, occupies the front row with Yarborough. If Petty wins, he'll become NASCAR's all-time money winner on major speedways.

Petty, who raced Plymouths until this year, has banked $312,310 from 76 super-speedway starts since 1959. Only the $321,455 compiled by now-retired Fred Lorenzen is higher.

But Petty's chances of winning his third Rebel and his fourth victory at Darlington were dimmed Friday morning when he broke the engine in his No. 43 blue racer. His crew spent the afternoon replacing the 429-cubic inch power plant and the 32-year-old driver had no time to break it in before the track shut down.

Another Ford driver, Donnie

Allison, qualified seventh in the field but wrecked in practice Thursday and will have to start with a rebuilt car.

Paul Goldsmith, who has driven in every race at Darlington except the first one in 1950, was Dodge's top qualifier, placing third in the lineup. In sixth position at the start will be Buddy Baker, who will be driving a Cotton Owens-built Dodge for the first time.

The year's leading money winner, Ford's David Pearson, has the fifth spot beside fourth place Lee Roy Yarbrough in a Mercury. Pearson has collected $58,670 and Yarbrough $50,015 thus far this season.

Hot Stove Opener Set

Tonight at 6 p.m. a program which encompasses 683 boys from the Warren area will open its 1969 season at Carbon Field. The Hot Stove League will kick off a new season with a game in the Central Division of the Midget League.

All boys participating in the league this year will be at the game in uniform with their parents and managers for the opening ceremonies.

Rev. Roy Humphries of the First Pilgrim Holiness Church will deliver the invocation and Mayor Donald Conaway will throw out the first ball to open up the game between A&B Heating and the South Side Eagles. The opening day festivities will be climaxed by a game between a team of Old-Timers and one of the teams from the Recreation Softball League.

Blueberry Sets Spaghetti Open

The Second Annual Spaghetti Open will be held today at Blueberry Hill Golf Course regardless of weather conditions. If bad weather forces cancellation of the golfing events activities inside the clubhouse will be substituted.

BOWLETTES QUEENS

LOTS OF LINEUP CHANGES

Ike Rips Sheffield, BCC

LANDER—Eisenhower track coach Denny Engstrom made liberal changes in his line-up count for plenty of points as his charges grabbed a double win over Bradford Central Christian and Sheffield here Friday afternoon. The Knights rolled up 122 points, compared with 35 for Bradford Central Christian and 12 for Sheffield.

Martin Hoffman, taking time out from his regular shot put, high jump, triple jump routine, set a new Eisenhower High School record in the long jump with a leap of 20'10 1/4". Hoffman also took seconds on the 220 and javelin.

Sweeps in the two mile run and the discus were the Ike strong points. Andy Bosco's 10:58.7 led the two milers and Randy Phillips tossed the discus 117'8" to top that event.

Allen Swanson emerged as a double winner for the Knights, with a winning time of 10.6 in the 100 yard dash and a leg on the 880 relay team.

Ted Morrison was the only Wolverine to grab an individual first as he took the top spot in the pole vault with a vault of 10'6".

John Camas and Tom Cervone piled up most of Bradford Central Christians points. Camas won both the high and low hurdles and took a second in the 100 yard dash. Cervone was also a double winner, winning the 220 in 24.9 and the triple jump with a jump of 38'7".

Stock Market Shows Durability

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned in a lackluster performance Friday, but brokers said they did not think it was too bad considering continued profit-taking pressure and pre-weekend investor caution.

"The market continued to show its durability," an analyst said, "despite investor concern over such things as international monetary prospects and the domestic economic situation with its continued prospects of tight money."

Profit-taking also continued to bite into the market, brokers said, as traders who had scored good gains in the market's recent advances kept on moving in to take short-term profits.

They said the adverse factors were balanced in part by continued hopes of progress in the Vietnam peace talks, which an analyst said "were an important sustaining factor. If it weren't for that, the market probably would have slipped further."

REFLECTIONS

By Betty Rice

Miss Traci Lynn Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. George Perkins, has had a tonsilectomy and would like to hear from her friends in Warren. Her address is 110 Allen avenue, Belle Vernon, Pa., 15012.

Janet Gebhardt, one of our favorite Warren girls and a junior at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, enrolled in the Department of Business Education, was recently honored at the annual spring banquet at Rustic Lodge near Indiana. Jan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gebhardt, 4 Jefferson avenue, was awarded the G. G. Hill Scholarship, a grant presented annually to a department junior for scholarship and leadership qualities.

We read where an area honeymoon couple were stopped for questioning by state troopers when they had nearly reached their destination, Niagara Falls, April 26. It seems there was a sign on the gas tank of their car: "Help, I'm being kidnapped," placed there as a gag by "friends." The notice was spotted by an alert service station attendant who notified police to stop the car.

Dr. Sally J. DeLong of New Orleans, Louisiana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeLong, 17 Lansing street, North Warren, Pa., was married April 16, 1969 in New Orleans to Ray Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert J. Malone, Lakeworth, Texas. Sally graduated from Bucknell with a B.S. in Chemistry in 1963, earned her PhD in Inorganic Chemistry at Arizona State University and just recently completed a year of postdoctoral research at Louisiana State University in New Orleans. Ray graduated from Texas Christian University with the B.S. in Chemistry in 1967 and is now working toward his PhD in Organic Chemistry at Louisiana State. The couple is now residing at 5018 St. Anthony avenue, Apt. C, New Orleans, La. 70122.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My best friend is five months pregnant. She is a junior in high school. Ellie is really a good kid. What happened to her was not entirely her fault. Her boyfriend lied and said he was sterile.

Yesterday Ellie was called into the principal's office and asked if she was pregnant. It wouldn't have made any sense to deny it because she shows, even in loose dresses. The principal told Ellie she would have to leave school in two weeks.

The boy, however, doesn't have to leave. He gets to stay on as if he had nothing to do with it. Is this fair?—PROTESTING INJUSTICE

Dear Pro: Who said life was fair? At the risk of sounding like a broken record, I'll say it again—The girl is the big loser in the game called unmarried love. Kids who want to sample the physical pleasures of marriage would do well to consider all the possibilities. Since the female gets pregnant and her body undergoes the changes, it is her responsibility to call the signals—and to hold that line.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter-in-law and I get along very well. We have no problems and I want to keep it that way. The only thing about her that bothers me is that she must hate to wash and iron shirts.

My son who was always meticulous about his appearance now looks shabby because his shirts are a mess. I get sick whenever I see him.

You are good with words, Ann. Can you tell me what to say to my son's wife so she will not be offended and still get the message?—PARIS, QUEBEC

Dear Paris: When a man marries, his wife becomes responsible for his laundry. No matter how you phrase it, any comment or suggestion from you would be considered interference. So keep quiet, Mother.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

MRS. JAMES F. POMPILIO

-STOKES STUDIO

United In Marriage

Holy Redeemer Church of Warren at 10 a.m., May 3, 1969, was the scene of the wedding of Lynda Ruth Rickert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Rickert, 112 Woods Road, North Warren and Airman First Class James Frank Pompilio, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Pompilio, 15 Cedar street, Warren.

The Rev. Robert A. Clay performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of white mums, daisies and yellow gladioli. Mrs. Thomas Donnelly served as organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white dotted swiss designed with empire waistline. A double pleated and fluted self-edging trimmed the neckline and wrist length sleeves. Her shoulder length tulle veil was secured by an organza bow and she carried a cascade of white carnations, daisies and ivy.

Mrs. Jay Link, matron of honor and Miss Tina Werlin, maid of honor, were attired in identical floor length gowns of mint green dotted swiss with empire bodice and scooped neckline. Both carried bouquets of yellow carnations surrounded by daisies and an edging of yellow lace ribbon.

Sgt. Phillip A. Pompilio, who is stationed at Little Rock AFB, Ark., served as his brother's best man and ushers were Sgt. James Bobelak, U.S. Air Force, Ala.; Earl Rosenquist, cousin of the bridegroom and Steven Rickert, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore light blue with matching accessories while the bridegroom's mother chose aqua with beige accessories. Both wore white rosebud corsages. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ralph McCracken, was presented a cymbidium orchid corsage.

A luncheon for the families and members of the wedding party was held at the Penn Laurel following the ceremony. The reception was also held at Penn Laurel where a yellow and white color scheme was carried out in the flowers, candles and cake, the latter, baked and served by Mrs. Margaret Sandburg, was three-tiers topped with an arrangement of wedding bells and daisies in yellow and white.

Aides were Mrs. Genevieve Lincoln, Mrs. Al Proffitt, aunt of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Pompilio, aunt of the bridegroom. Mark Rickert, the bride's brother assisted with the guest book.

The bride attended Edinboro State College and Art Institute of Pittsburgh. The couple will reside in Biloxi, Miss., where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Air Force.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents at their home.

Out-of-town guests were present from Cameron, W. Va.; Wyandotte, Mich.; Buffalo, Olean and Jamestown, N.Y.; Pittsburgh, Bradford, Kane, New Kensington, East Hickory and Midland, Pa.

Baptist Women Spring Meeting

The spring meeting of American Baptist Women of Oil Creek Association was held at First Baptist Church in North East, Pa. May 6. Over 100 women assembled to hear the missionary speaker, the Rev. M. C. Williams, pastor of West Ryde Baptist Church of Sydney, Australia who is on a goodwill tour of both the American and Southern Baptist Conventions.

Mr. Williams is vice chairman of the Australian Baptist Home Mission Board and serves on the Board of the Australian Baptist Mission Society which works in India, Pakistan, New Guinea and Zambia.

Vocal selections were given by Mrs. Carolyn Blakeslee and the business session was presided over by Mrs. Howard Faulkner of Warren, who as retiring president is succeeded by Mrs. W. H. Passauer of Oil City, Pa.

Attends Assembly In San Antonio

Wayne W. Watts, RD 1, Pittsfield, leaves Monday for San Antonio, Texas, to attend the 181st United Presbyterian General Assembly and will be one of 2,000 persons, including approximately 840 commissioners (voting delegates) expected to be present for the assembly May 14-21.

Major decisions on issues facing one of the largest Protestant denominations in America will be made at the San Antonio Convention Center.

Subjects expected to come up before the Assembly this year include: The tax exempt status of the church; Conscientious objection to war; Problems of world hunger and what the church can do to alleviate them; The role of the denomination in helping racial and cultural minorities with emphasis on the "Brown Power" movement of the Spanish-speaking groups; Ecumenical involvements of the denomination; Reorganization of the church's government and the church's ghetto investment policies.

Commissioners will also consider pronouncements (statements to the church at large from the Assembly) on crucial social concerns.

Woman's Club Bridge Scores

Five table Howell was in play at Woman's Club Bridge Thursday with an average of 24. Mrs. J. R. Valone and Mrs. Shurl Glass were first with 30. In second place with 26 1/2 were Miss Frances Schimmelfeng and Mrs. Melvin Ahlgren.

Mrs. William Fuehlhart and Mrs. A. J. Lucia placed third with 26 and Mrs. James Potter and Mrs. Joseph Bevevino were fourth with 25.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS W. BUSS

Were Married In April

Nancy C. Niedzialek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Niedzialek, 12 Branch street, Warren and Bruce W. Buss, son of Charles Nowell, 1012 Washington street, Jamestown, N.Y. and the late Mrs. Nowell, were united in marriage at 2 p.m., Saturday, April 26, 1969 in First Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. John Gardner performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white carnations, snapdragons and palms in the presence of 125 guests. Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Glenn Fraser, organist with Barbara Larson as vocalist.

Escorted by her father, the bride appeared in a floor length A-line skimmer of linen with a bodice and bell sleeves of Venice lace. The lace was repeated in a detachable, chapel length train which fell from the shoulders. Her bouffant, shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a crown of matching lace and she carried a bouquet of white miniature carnations with greens and streamers.

Miss Judy York was maid of honor and Lisa Niedzialek was bridesmaid for her sister. Their slim, floor length gowns were of pistachio green linen with wide bands of white Venice lace circling the scooped neck and hemline. Butterfly veils were caught to petal headpieces of pistachio green and they carried nosegays of green-tipped white carnations.

Study Club

The Young Mothers' Study Club will hold its final meeting of the season at 8 p.m. Monday at Mrs. Helen McDonald's Dance Studio on Oak st.

Preceding the business meeting the program will be presented by Mrs. McDonald's dance students. Discussion will center on arranging definite dates for the annual children's picnic and the couple's picnic to be held in June.

son, Sinclairville, N.Y., served as usher for his brother-in-law.

The bride's mother wore a pastel print crepe dress with daffodil yellow accessories and white pompon corsage. The bridegroom's sister chose turquoise with silver accessories with white pompon corsage. Mrs. Kathryn Klenck, grandmother of the bride and Mrs. Ira Haskell, the bridegroom's grandmother were also favored with corsages.

The wedding reception was held at Glade Fire Hall which was decorated in green and white. The four-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's father, was topped with a bridal couple and wedding bells. Miss Sylvia Niedzialek cut the cake, Miss Marcia Kelemonick presided at the punch bowl and Miss Cheryl Bainbridge poured coffee.

For traveling, the bride chose a frock of pale yellow tweed with blue coat and white accessories. The newlyweds will make their home at 40 Flagg avenue, Jamestown, N.Y.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Warren Area High School and is employed at New Process Company. The bridegroom attended Cassadaga and Jamestown, N.Y. high schools and has completed two years of military service with the U.S. Army, including overseas duty in Vietnam and Germany. He is presently employed by Proto Tool Co. in Jamestown.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Tom King and Miss Pam Blum; Mrs. James Hendrickson and Miss Diane Nowell.

Out-of-town guests were from Silver Springs, Md., Bethlehem, Pa., Rochester, Dunkirk, Sinclairville, Mayville, Lakewood, Jamestown and Frewsburg, N.Y.

Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary of Chief Cornplanter Unit, 135, will hold its Past Presidents meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 13 and the regular meeting at 8 p.m. at the Legion home. Mrs. Myrtle Cobb and Mrs. Pearl Graham are on the refreshment committee.

Evening Wedding

Memorial Chapel of the First Lutheran Church, Jamestown, N.Y., was the scene for the early evening wedding on Saturday (May 3, 1969) of Marilyn Beth Salman and Samuel Giordano Jr.

The Rev. Dr. Paul A. Westerberg officiated at 7:30 p.m. for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Salman, 167 Park st., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Giordano, R.D. 2, Manchester Road.

Tall vases of white chrysanthemums and ferns decorated the altar for the double ring, candlelight rites. George Johnson provided traditional nuptial music.

Carrying bouquets of apricot-tinted daisies with miniature carnations and ivy, were the bride's attendants, Mrs. Sebastian Reale, honor matron, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Tracey Gordon, cousin of the bride as junior bridesmaid. Both were similarly attired in white nylon organdy over apricot taffeta slim, floor-length gowns. Bouffant veils were secured to their matching florett and horsehair braid headpieces.

Sebastian Reale was best man for his brother-in-law. Seating guests were Kenneth Salman, brother of the bride, and William North, her cousin.

The bride's white silk crepe formal gown was detailed with silk scrolled empire bodice and elbow-length sleeves accented with bows. The deep-pleated chapel-length train was secured with a bow. Her billowy veil of English silk illusion was gathered to a cluster of taffeta and pearl petals interspersed with daisies. She carried a cascade of white daisies, stephanotis and babies breath with ivy accents.

The bridal pair was greeted by 150 guests at the reception in Hilltop Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Millard North of Akeley, Pa., served as master and mistress of ceremonies. Assisting were Miss Susan C. Verleni, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Caprino and Mrs. Terry Donaldson.

The couple will be at home at 174 Thayer st., after May 10 and a honeymoon at Virginia Beach.

The bride, a graduate in 1968 of Jamestown High School, is employed by Field and Wright Co. Mr. Giordano, a 1967 graduate of the same school, is employed by Maroone Vending Co., Buffalo.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Banquet Held

A Mother and Daughter banquet was held May 8 at First Salem United Methodist Church. Dinner was served by the men to 100 mothers and daughters at tables centered with bouquets of mixed flowers donated by Mrs. Virginia Petersen from her garden. The favors, various colored flowers, were made and donated by Mrs. Loretta Berkhouse and programs of matching colors were made by the Persuaders Class.

A program followed the dinner with Linda Ann and Bea Jarvis acting as program leaders. A reading "What Is A Daughter" was given by Cathy Carlson and "What Is A Daughter," by Mrs. Nadine Carlson. Presentations of various awards which were given the following guests: Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Mrs. Esther Rudolph, Mrs. Dolly Bevevino, Sue Ellen Eckert, Mrs. Tillie Dahler, Mrs. Hulda Sedon and Mrs. Joyce Trayer.

Mrs. Beverly Petersen led in group singing. The main attraction of the evening was Albert Fox who entertained with his clever sketches.

Pleasant PTA Hears High School Stage Band

With the delightful and swinging music of the Warren Area High School Stage Band, Pleasant PTA concluded the year Monday night. The band, under the direction of Dan Harpster, presented a program featuring both old tunes of yesteryear and new sounds of today.

President Karl Hoffman announced the PTA had turned over a check to the township so they could start work on a wading pool for the township playground. A professional man will be in charge but volunteers will be asked to assist with the work. Officers for the coming year were elected and installed.

The PTA held an appreciation dinner for teachers Wednesday evening with Mrs. Shirley Carlson's fifth grade class winning the room award for the most parents present.

Mr. Hoffman thanked his officers, committee chairmen and all members for making this past year a success. Mrs. Arlene Conn, on behalf of all members, thanked the outgoing president for his efforts and many accomplishments.

The Zodiac Coffee House Story

By Rev. Donald H. Spencer

How did the coffee house for the Warren Campus come into being? I am glad to set forth certain developments which I recall in the story of the Zodiac.

Early in 1968 I was asked by the Warren County Ministerial Association to serve as chaplain to students. The request included the giving of at least one hour a week to be on duty at the campus for the purpose of counseling any students who desired to discuss personal problems. I enjoyed this opportunity to reveal the interest of the churches in the needs of the students. Though it was only a small indication of the interest of the churches, it was a start and something definite. I felt, however, that something further should be done to make more vital the relationship of the churches to the students.

During the following summer I had a conference with the Rev. George Lower, full-time campus minister at the main campus of Edinboro. He suggested that we determine both the need and interest in a coffee house ministry. I then had a conference with Jim Kelly, president of the Student Government. I discovered that he and other students had been thinking about the need for a coffee house and were very enthusiastic about starting such a project. It was evident that there was a genuine need and that the students would do everything possible to get a coffee house started and operate it under adult supervision.

Since most of the sponsorship for campus coffee houses comes from church groups and since more than half of the church sponsored are ecumenical and interfaith, it seemed appropriate for the Warren County Ministerial Association to sponsor a Warren Coffee House which would be operated by the students themselves. The Lions Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Rotary Club, the Y.W.C.A., the Y.M.C.A. and the Committee on Higher Education all revealed an interest and appointed representatives to help with its organization.

Finally, under the helpful guidance of Attorney Robert Wolfe, a constitution and by-laws were adopted. The board of directors is made up of six students and three ministers, with advisory members from Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary, the Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A. and a member-at-large. The Student Government elects the student members and the Ministerial Association names the other members of the board-active and advisory. The present Board is made up of Alan Culbertson, Jay Sellin, Christine Pierson, Celeste Burns, Eldo De-Long, Peter Davidson, the Rev.

Elmer Reamer, the Rev. John
T. Carter, the Rev. Donald H.
Spencer, Quinn Smith, James
Hill, O. C. Tritt, Mrs. Eugene
O'Neill, Richard Betts and Edward Ord.

The cooperative response of many individuals and business firms in the community has been outstanding. Donald Rudolph, owner of the B and B Smoke Shop building, offered a two-year lease for the use of the second floor of his building rent-free. The expense in equipping, renovating and preparing the site has been reasonable due to the generous assistance of people. Major items have included the erection of a fire escape, the purchase of three stoves, wiring, plumbing (in-

PURPOSE

To provide an atmosphere conducive to relaxation and the exchange of ideas toward the development of a more well-rounded individual.

To provide entertainment and thought provoking programs for individual consideration and group discussion.

To offer an outlet for creativity among all students.

To provide a gathering place for the students where time is of no essence and where friendships are formed.

ZODIAK ENTRANCE

The entrance to the Zodiac Coffee House lies behind the double black doors, sandwiched between the Warren Drug Store and the B & B Smoke Shop near the corner of Third and Liberty streets.

PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT

Pretty Jane Roshong entertains a group of students with a tender ballad. In the background, under the multitudinous posters, is the coffee bar where very mild refreshments are available to Zodiac patrons.

STRANGE LIGHTING

The chandelier at the top of the stairs to the coffee house casts eerie highlights on the walls, ceiling and Mary Jo Stevens, an Edinboro student from Homer City. It was made from a five-gallon metal container and then painted black.

stalling two wash rooms and kitchen), building a small stage, and painting of all rooms.

The financial outlay required approximately $4,000.00. Students and interested adults contributed many hours of labor. It has been estimated that regular operating expenses, which include utilities, insurance and salary of a student manager, will amount to a modest $800 a year. Funds are currently being collected for the coming college year. The student manager has contributed his services for the three months of this year.

The Zodiac opened on March

1st and was an immediate success. The need for a place for students to congregate in a wholesome atmosphere was confirmed. Here the students gather three nights a week, Monday, Thursday and Friday, for folk music, religious discussions, card and chess games and conversation.

When the Zodiac is open an adult couple from one of the local churches is on duty to serve as hosts, dispensing coffee and soft drinks for which a modest charge is made. The student manager, Jay Sellin, is in charge and Quinn Smith, the adult manager, is usually present. The hours are from 8:30 until 11:30 p.m. It has been estimated that approximately fifty students drop in during these hours. College students returning home from other colleges have been frequent and welcome visitors.

In the story of the Zodiac Coffee House, particular tribute is due Quinn Smith for his interest and assistance. From the very beginning he has given wise counsel in laying the plans and in carrying out the renovating and decorating of the rooms. The large number of hours of work given by the students have been under his direction and supervision.

Students Extend Thanks

The Zodiac Coffee House thanks all the private individuals, local businesses, service clubs -- Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary -- the YWCA and YMCA for their time, support and financial assistance in establishing this facility.

Special thanks is expressed to the Warren County Ministerial Association -- the founding organization, and to the Rev. Donald H. Spencer, the Rev. John Carter, the Rev. Elmer Reamer and Quinn Smith, who were instrumental in organizing the coffee house. Also, the churches who supplied adult volunteers.

HELPING OUT

Tribute is due also to Frank Johnson, director of the Warren Campus, and to Joseph Passaro of the Committee on Higher Education, for their counsel and encouragement.

The support of the Coffee House by local citizens is one way to reveal our interest in the college students and to show our appreciation for the contribution they are making to Warren. Many of the most active participants are among the group of approximately one hundred twenty-five who are students from other communities, but living in Warren for the first two years of their college life.

Meet Warren County's Two Sanitarians

The role of a sanitarian is one of prevention of disease through the promotion and maintenance of total environmental sanitation at the highest possible level.

This description of the duties fits those of Ronald Brumigan, and John W. Grandinetti, sanitarians with the Pennsylvania Dept. of Health, with offices at the State Health Center, 104 Water st.

"Most people," the pair said, "think of sanitarians as restaurant inspectors." We do perform the function, certifying for the public that the food served is safe and wholesome, that the dishes and utensils used are not just clean but also sanitized, and that the establishment itself is maintained in a clean condition.

"This, however, is just one of the areas in which we work.

"Our delegated responsibilities include surveillance over:

Semi-public water supplies, sewage disposal, refuse disposal, vectors of disease, public eating and drinking places, mobile home parks, recreation areas, organized campgrounds, tent and travel trailer campgrounds, motels, schools, institutions, swimming pools, migrant labor camps, retail food outlets, food vending machines, and communicable diseases."

"In Warren County, we of the state and local health agencies have a sound working relationship with an informed public. Mutual cooperation is exercised in the promotion of public health and it is this cooperation that makes our work rewarding and Warren County a better place to live, work and play," say Brumigan and Grandinetti.

HEALTH DEPT. SANITARIANS

Ronald Brumigan, left, and John W. Grandinetti, are sanitarians with the State Health Dept. with headquarters at 104 Water st. These

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR SATURDAY, MAY 10, 1969.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) -- A self-possessed, unruffled manner and concise planning, together with a sound investment of time and energies are the requirements of this day. Note where you can improve procedures.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) -- Venus mildly favorable. Romance and artistic pursuits favored. Re-examine your long-range projects and put them on a business basis.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) -- Put a bit more spark to your endeavors, thus to bring others' attention to your efforts. Smart ones are doing it every day. Your ingenuity stimulated now.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) -- Mighty splendid aspects should encourage an enthusiastic you-with your talents sharpened and desires properly directed. But do not be so hasty that you make foolish errors.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) -- You, too, share in many new opportunities and benefits offered. Concentrate on study, careful approach, discreet speech and well organized plans. Possibly a new trend in the offing.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) -- Better than a "plain" day, yet ordinary in many respects. You will be expected to lend an able share of responsibility. Be adaptable.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) -- Sponsor a new undertaking if it sounds profitable. No better day for promoting, advertising, pressing forward to better things.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) -- Mars' aspect now urges you to be tenacious in application, constructive in plans. Method and flexibility both needed. Radiate cheer and others will follow suit.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) -- Losses are never as bad as they seem. You may not experience any, but if they occur, take them (and anything irksome) with a philosophical view: You will grow, expand.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) -- Planetary influences point up the possibility of opinions reached too hastily, incorrect judgments. Don't retreat, however, when forward action is needed.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) -- Personal matters may trouble you. Review them calmly, completely. Perhaps you are over-emphasizing certain angles to your detriment. Let nothing depress you.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) -- Intellectual activities, higher learning, practicing skills, hobbies and pastimes of a healthful sort, especially favored. BUT in everything, watch for the "tricky" spots, misleading avenues.

YOU BORN TODAY are persistent, versatile; ready for all types of work, activity, interests; rarely spend a day dallying. Persons born under Taurus are tops in many fields, and the side lines are numerous. Your natural pace is too much for some (can be for YOU, too!). You have excellent powers of memory, adaptability and perception. You are keen for enlightenment: Seek it from only the best sources. Birthdate of: Claude Rouget de Lisle, author of "La Marseillaise," James (Viscount) Bryce, Eng. jurist, statesman; Fred Astaire, dancer, cinema star.

How to Keep Well By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

MEASLES VACCINE

German measles (rubella) is not a serious disease except when it develops in women in the first three months of pregnancy. It is a major threat because many of these babies are born with defects involving the eye, ear and heart.

In 1964 more than 20,000 infants came into the world with defects traceable to a mother who had measles while pregnant. Studies showed that rubella was responsible, because babies retain the causative virus for as long as a year after birth. In some instances, susceptible nurses and doctors contracted the disease while caring for the child.

German measles tends to occur in epidemic proportions every five to seven years. The last outbreak in the United States took place in the 1963-1964 season; the next is expected in the spring of 1970. The date is significant because several protective vaccines now being used experimentally are awaiting government approval.

Because time is of the essence; how can the vaccine be used most effectively? Some authorities believe mass immunization of all pre-schoolers and those in the elementary grades is the answer. This will reduce the chance of children getting and transmitting the German measles virus to their mothers. By protecting children, the chance of susceptible adults getting the disease is remote.

An alternative is immunizing adolescent girls and women of childbearing potential who have never had rubella. In this way, the group with which we are concerned would be protected. After the vaccine is licensed, we hope that enough will be manufactured so that all women and children can be immunized.

The new vaccine is made from live, but weakened, viruses. The government is cautious, because health officials do not want the virus from vaccines to spread to vulnerable unvaccinated persons. Tests on thousands of children have shown that the product is highly effective and well tolerated. There is no instance in which the vaccinated person has passed along the virus even though he developed a very mild form of the disease.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

GALL BLADDER BOUT

R.C. writes: Does a gall bladder attack call for immediate surgery?

REPLY

No, but much depends on what you mean by a gall bladder attack. Surgery seldom is recommended when a stone is being passed. However, if the attack is being caused by acute inflammation of the organ, some physicians recommend immediate surgery. The problem is handled in much the same way as appendicitis. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on gall bladder disease.

CONTINUE EXPERIENCE In A Vital Public Office

Judge Samuel F. Bonavita

was appointed President Judge of the 37th Judicial District by Governor Shafer on January 3, 1969.

The appointment was recommended by 38 of 46 Republican Committeemen and many prominent Democrats.

25 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

Judge Bonavita has served a quarter of a century as an attorney, including eleven prime judicial training years as one of the most outstanding District Attorneys in Pennsylvania, making him a man eminently qualified to continue as Judge of Warren and Forest Counties.

He has presided regularly in the office of Judge since his appointment and his record is outstanding. He has cleared up the backlog of cases and has kept the court calendar current.

REV. MARK ROUECHE

A Rose by Any Other Name

By Rev. Mark Roueche

With the advent of May, we think of flowers and such things. Shakespeare asked: "What's in a name? A rose by any other name would smell as sweet." You cannot change the contents of a jar by changing the label. What's there is there. But the Bard of Avon was overlooking one psychological factor—perception. Names have acquired certain atmospheres, and no matter who or what we are, they convey to us ideas of reference—either good or bad.

"Mother" is an old-fashioned word in some circles—it labels the reality the way it is. "It tells it like it is" as they say. It represents pain, sacrifice, unselfishness, and a great deal of a certain thing called love. Maybe this is why motherhood today is something to be avoided. It costs too much in personal involvement.

Today, we tend to search for the relevant. We hear this from the college campuses to the black ghettos. Everything must have meaning—it must somehow be effective in personal living. Yet, the word relevant must be accompanied by another old-fashioned word, reverence.

To be relevant does not necessarily mean we must discard every ideal we have had in the past. We will not make colleges relevant by tearing down the walls—nor the ghettos relevant by burning them down. In the same way, we will not make motherhood relevant by tearing down the reverence that should be associated with it.

What is more relevant to society than motherhood. It begins and prepares individuals to become responsible, sensitive, and yes, religious adults.

To be a mother entails more than just giving birth to a child. It requires a reverence on the part of the mother that here is an act of creation. A unique human being is brought out into eternal existence because of her cooperation with God. Unless mother as an individual and our society itself consider birth and motherhood reverently—then motherhood will become just another record.

Tomorrow, we honor all mothers by a special day. May God bless them all and continue to give them the role of being relevant, reverent and of course, beautiful. May God grant that through them, all of us will have a reverence for motherhood and when we think or hear of the word "Mother"—we will be reminded of something beautiful—like roses.
